IBRAM PANEL | OPPORTUNITIES AND CHALLENGES FOR MINING IN THE FACE OF CLIMATE CHANGE

Objective: Bring together representatives from the mineral sector, government and civil society to discuss how mining can contribute to the global climate agenda while strengthening their resilience to climate challenges.

Moderation: Daniel Santos, CEO of Alcoa

Panelists:

Anderson Baranov, CEO of Hydro and President of SIMINERAL

Fernando Azevedo, Vice-President of IBRAM

Daniel Abdo, Sustainability at Sigma Lithium

Marisa César, Director of Corporate Affairs and Sustainability - PLS

LATAM PANEL | CLIMATE HARMONIZATION: THE ROLE OF CIVIL AVIATION IN THE BRAZILIAN EMISSIONS TRADING SYSTEM

Objective: Promote reflection on how to integrate SBCE with other sectoral policies, such as the Climate Plan, Sustainable Taxonomy, and the Fuel of the Future Law (ProBioQAV), ensuring synergy and efficiency in the aviation decarbonization pathway.

ICF Keynote: Alastair Blanshard, director

Moderator: Maria Elisa Curcio, director of Corporate and Regulatory Affairs and Sustainability, LATAM Airlines Brazil.

Panelists:

Alastair Blanshard, Director, ICF

Laís Thomaz, Chief of Staff at the National Petroleum, Natural Gas and Biofuels Secretariat, Ministry of Mines and Energy

Julio Cordano, Environmental Director at the Chilean Ministry of Foreign Affairs

Milena Fajardo, Head of Fuel & Sustainability at the Latin American & Caribbean Air Transport Association (ALTA).

	11:00am - 12:00pm	IBRAM PANEL OPPORTUNITIES AND CHALLENGES IN MINING IN THE FACE OF CLIMATE CHANGE Objective: Brazilian mining plays a strategic role in sustainability, as it supplies minerals that are critical for the energy transition – including lithium, niobium, and rare earths – and agricultural inputs such as phosphate and potassium. These resources are key drivers of clean technologies and help reduce the rate of deforestation. However, the sector is facing climate-related risks that affect infrastructure, energy, water, and logistics processes. The panel will bring together representatives from the mining industry, government, and civil society to discuss how the sector can move its climate agenda forward and strengthen its resilience in the face of such challenges. Moderator: Anderson Baranov, CEO at Hydro and President of SIMINERAL Panelists: Izabela Teixeira, Former Minister of the Environment Paulo Henrique Leal Soares, Director of Communications and Project	SCHNEIDER PANEL DRIVING THE TRANSITION: INDUSTRIAL DECARBONIZATION AND THE ROLE OF PUBLIC-PRIVATE COLLABORATION Objective: Comment on the report “Perspectives on Demand and Energy Transition Scenarios in Brazil”, highlighting global paths for Brazil's energy transition and industrial decarbonization. Moderator: Aline Scherer, journalist Panelist(s): Roberto Rossi, president of Schneider Electric Brazil Paulo Pedrosa, Executive President of ABRACE Luiz Cláudio Pinto, Quality, Sustainability & After-Sales at Roca Brazil
	12:00pm - 1:00pm	SUZANO PANEL CHINA-BRAZIL SYNERGY: CHARTING A NEW BLUEPRINT FOR ENERGY TRANSITION AND THE BIOECONOMY	MCKINSEY PANEL MAKING THE GREEN TRANSITION WORK FOR PEOPLE AND THE ECONOMY Objective: Moderated panel discussion on the changing context for climate

		Objective: The panel aims to move beyond macro-level discussions and delve into the concrete opportunities and implementation pathways for Sino-Brazilian collaboration in energy transition and the bioeconomy. Panelists: Shidong Yan, Secretary of the Party Committee and Director, Center for Environmental Education & Communications, Ministry of Ecology and Environment Yuan Cao Chief Counsel, Zero Carbon Corporation Initiative, Syntao Cláudia Trevisan, Executive Director of the Brazil-China Business Council Malu Paiva, Executive Vice-President for Sustainability, Communication and Brand at Suzano Nelmara Arbex, Partner at KPMG Brazil and Americas	action, executive insights on socioeconomic risks and opportunities of the transition and considerations for corporates Moderator: Dr. Mekala Krishnan, McKinsey Global Institute Panelists: Dr Chantal Line Carpentier, Head of Trade, Environment, Climate Change, and Sustainable Development at UN Trade and Development Grazielle Parenti, Executive Vice President, Sustainability, at Vale Hanne Simensen, Executive Vice President, Aluminium Metal at Norsk Hydro Rafael Segrera, South America Zone President, Schneider Electric
	1:00pm - 2:00pm	ITAÚSA PANEL A FUTURE WITHOUT RISK: BUILDING AN ADAPTATION MARKET Objective: Explore how to transform climate adaptation into a driver of economic value by creating markets, financial instruments, and governance structures capable of attracting private and public capital at scale Moderator: Marcelo Furtado, Head of Sustainability at Itaúsa Panelist(s):	HYDRO PANEL INDUSTRY BEYOND CARBON: BRIDGING BRAZIL AND EUROPE Objective: As the world accelerates toward net-zero, the aluminum industry finds itself at a pivotal moment, one where innovation, policy, and intercontinental collaboration must converge. This panel will explore how Brazil and Europe are reshaping industrial pathways to thrive beyond carbon, focusing on aluminum's role in the energy transition, circular economy, and sustainable development. The discussion will connect perspectives from Belém to Oslo, highlighting real-world examples of low-carbon aluminum, recycling innovation, and community engagement, with emphasis on:

		Annelise Vendramini, Professor at FGV Hannah Arcuschin, Insper Mariana Nicolletti, FGV	• Brazil's upstream potential and socio-environmental challenges in Pará • Europe's decarbonization roadmap and regulatory momentum • The role of industry associations such as ABAL and IAI in setting global standards Moderator: Eduardo Figueiredo Panelists: Hanne Simensen, Executive Vice President, Hydro Aluminium Metal; Janaína Donas, President, ABAL Cornelius Pieper, Managing Director and Senior Partner at Boston Consulting Group
	2:00pm - 3:00pm	ANFAVEA PANEL THE CARBON FOOTPRINT OF THE BRAZILIAN VEHICLE: A VIEW FROM THE CRADLE TO THE GRAVE Objective: To present the unprecedented study developed by ANFAVEA on the carbon footprint of Brazilian vehicles, conducted with the objective of assessing greenhouse gas emissions "from cradle to grave" in the national automotive chain, in comparison with other relevant regions. The panel will discuss the results and implications of this survey, highlighting the strategic role of the automotive industry in the transition to a low-carbon economy, with a focus on technological innovation, new mobility models, and strategies for reducing emissions. Moderator: João Irineu, Vice President of Regulatory Affairs for South America at Stellantis Panelist(s):	IBP PANEL ENERGY EVOLUTION – HOW GLOBAL OIL AND GAS ORGANIZATIONS ARE ALIGNED TO THE PARIS AGREEMENT Objective: Demonstrate the commitment of oil and gas companies to reducing GHG emissions and combating global warming through joint efforts via global business associations that have adopted the Paris Agreement guidelines as a priority in their agendas. Moderator: Roberto Claudio Nunes, Director of IBP Panelist(s): Irene Alfaro, Senior Managing Director of ARPEL Lorena Perez Bajo, Director of Climate and Energy at IPIECA Bjørn Otto Sverdrup, Chairman of the OGCI Executive Committee Chris Birdsall, Exxon Mobil
